

UNTIL YOU REMEMBER

Sweet little one, so deep inside,
I wrap my wings of love around you
and sing sweet songs to your quivering heart.

Lay your head upon my breast,
close your eyes,
and listen to my heartbeat, until you hear your own again.

We'll sit together, you and I, the flowers and the butterflies, under the leaves of shade, under the quiet light of the Moon,
until you remember...

You are loveable; you are worthy; you are welcome;
you are wanted; you are cherished;
you matter; you touch the world;
you are beautiful!

Shed your every tear, and I will drink each one, and turn it into song.

I will never leave your side.
You are my beloved.
I love you.

Written on May 6, 2007 by: Jane Ellen